International Music Day

International Music Day, celebrated on June 21st each year, is a global observance that recognizes the universal language of music and its power to bring people together. It is a day to celebrate the joy, creativity, and diversity of music from all cultures and genres. People around the world mark this day by attending concerts, organizing musical events, or simply enjoying their favorite tunes. International Music Day serves as a reminder of the profound impact music has on our lives and its ability to inspire, uplift, and unite people across borders and cultures.

Law Faculty

By IROUNMO

A reception took place at the Faculty of Law to welcome the female and male students who participated in the national competition in simulated court proceedings at the European Court of Human Rights, titled "Ius versus iustitiam." The competition was held at the Faculty of Law, University of Mostar, and our students secured the second position.

Vildana Kubat, Anes Beganović, Amar Pajo, and Amina Mešić represented the faculty.

In addition to the academic coaches, the reception was attended by the dean of faculty, Prof. Dr. Amra Jašarbegović, and the vice-dean, Prof. Dr. Nerma Čolaković Prguda.

On this occasion, the faculty management congratulated the students, expressed gratitude for their representation of the faculty, and offered support for all future student activities.

FITCC v2023

By IROUNMO

The sixteenth edition of the FIT Coding Challenge took place on June 1st and 2nd, 2023, at the Džemal Bijedić University in Mostar.

As in previous years, students had the opportunity to compete in four categories, namely: Programming Challenge, Game Development, Innovation Challenge and Smart Solutions, Cybersecurity. FIT CC offered four panels where visitors could directly hear from employers (competition sponsors) about experiences in real work environments. The panel topics were as follows:

Panel 1: IT jobs in Bosnia and Herzegovina: working conditions and required qualifications, Formal, informal, and non-formal qualifications, The importance of formal qualifications in the era of AI. Panel 2: Competition vs. successful networking in the global IT market Panel 3: Entrepreneurs & the time turner: Our biggest mistakes Panel 4: "Where quantum semiconductor technology meets superconducting anharmonic quantum qubits, does a new computer science begin?" Within the FIT CC, a mini job fair was also held, allowing competition sponsors to present themselves to participants. Participants had the opportunity to leave their CVs with the companies that interested them the most. The competitors could look forward to valuable prizes and a welcome gift. The sponsors for this year's competition included Raiffeisen Bank, Virgin Pulse, Walter Code, Smed Engineering, ZenDev, FMON, Infigo, Mad Head Games, Cor Net, HTEC Group, KING ICT, Evoila, ZIRA, Bicom Systems, Comtrade 360, Valens, Softray Solutions, ECHO Technology Solutions, Propeller, Hera, Ant Colony, Authority Partners, BS Telecom Solutions, and NSoft.

International Children's Day

By IROUNMO

International Children's Day is celebrated worldwide on June 1st each year. It is a special day dedicated to raising awareness about the rights, well-being, and happiness of children all over the globe.

On this day, children are celebrated for their uniqueness, their innocence, and their unlimited potential. It is a time to reflect on the importance of providing children with a safe and nurturing environment where they can grow, learn, and thrive.

International Children's Day reminds us of the need to protect children from harm, ensure their access to education, healthcare, and equal opportunities, and empower them to have a voice in shaping their own future. It is a day to promote love, respect, and understanding towards every child, regardless of their background, nationality, or circumstances.

Various activities and events are organized on this day to entertain and engage children, such as games, performances, and educational programs. It is an opportunity to remind society of its collective responsibility to safeguard the rights and well-being of children and to create a world where every child can enjoy a happy and fulfilling childhood.

International Children's Day serves as a powerful reminder that children are our hope for a better future. It calls upon individuals, communities, and governments to work together to create an inclusive and child-friendly world, where every child can flourish and reach their full potential.

Heroines of lyrical-narrative oral literature

By IROUNMO

VKBI Hercegovina and the Center for Culture in Mostar collaborated to host an exciting event on June 1, 2023. They organized a special promotion for the anthology titled "Sung with Songs - Heroines of Lyrical-Narrative Oral Literature," curated by the esteemed academician, Prof. Emeritus Elbisa Ustamujić, who also serves as the president of ROVKBI Hercegovina. The anthology showcased captivating works that researchers of oral literature and university professors had presented at a prestigious scientific conference in Mostar two years ago. It featured a mix of unpublished texts and previously published ones. In the first part, the anthology provided new insights and perspectives on the relationship between oral and written literature as well as engaging discussions about the enchanting world of oral literature itself. The second part included selected texts to complement the themes explored in the first part.

One of the anthology's captivating aspects focused on the fascinating female characters from the Ljubović family in oral literature. These extraordinary women, through the power of storytelling, have made a lasting impact on the rich traditions of oral storytelling.

The event buzzed with enthusiasm and engagement, offering attendees an opportunity to explore this treasure trove of literary gems. It celebrated the vibrant world of oral literature and provided a platform for established and emerging voices.

"Sung with Songs - Heroines of Lyrical-Narrative Oral Literature" stands as a testament to the collective efforts of the organizers, authors, and contributors who passionately brought this anthology to life.
